FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

EASTERN OFFERS SUMMER STUDY IN ENGLAND

CHARLESTON -- Ever wanted to read literary classics while visiting the authors' homes or seeing the countryside described in their works? Eastern Illinois University will offer an opportunity to read Shakespeare's plays while visiting Stratford-on-Avon, to travel to the Brontes' cottage as you read their novels, to tour Byron's estate or D.H. Lawrence's home while studying their writings.

From June 9 until July 14, a group of Eastern students will be staying at Harlexton Manor while enrolled in English 3010C -- Literary Masterworks.

Harlexton Manor is the University of Evansville's United Kingdom campus. Built in the 1830s and 1840s, Harlexton Manor is a fantasy of towers and turrets at the end of a mile-long drive. Modern conveniences such as computer rooms, living quarters, and a cafeteria have been fashioned within the grand structure of a 19th-century English country manor.

While reading works by Shakespeare, Byron, Bronte, Tennyson, George Eliot, Arthur Conan Doyle and D.H. Lawrence, trips will be scheduled to nearby locations such as Stratford-on-Avon, Newstead Abbey (Byron's estate), the Brontes' cottage and London.

Participants may enroll for either upper division undergraduate credit or for graduate credit applicable to Eastern's degree programs or transferrable to other colleges or universities. Those who do not want university credit may enroll as credit-free participants.

The cost for the trip is $1,882, plus airfare and tuition. This amount includes housing and meals for five weeks at Harlexton Manor, transportation to and from London airports, and several day trips. Tuition for undergraduates is an additional $256.50; for graduates, an additional $270.75. Airfare is the individual student's responsibility, but Eastern's International Programs Office can assist with group travel arrangements.

For information, contact EIU's International Programs at (217) 581-2321 or Continuing Education at 581-5114.
